HOUSE OF COMMONS

Nov. 4. 1868

Dear Sir. I returned home on Saturday evening last, and heard from my servant that you had called upon me. I am sorry you should have had this trouble in vain. I appreciate highly the request of the Council of Our Club to preside at the next dinner; but at the present time I should not have been able to accept the honour.

Very truly yours,
John Perry.

Dr. Duckworth.
